

The ACS Group leads ENR's prestigious annual Global Sourcebook ranking, consolidating its leadership as an international contractor in numerous sectors

Madrid, December 7, 2023

Specifically, in 2022 the ACS Group consolidates its first position in the world ranking of international contractors in the general building category and also appears leading in numerous subcategories, including health sciences, education, commercial, government facilities and sports facilities, among others.

The ACS Group also appears in first place globally as the world's leading international contractor in the aerospace infrastructure, data centers and mining sections, and in second place in the biopharmaceutical infrastructure and telecommunications sections.

ACS is also in second place worldwide in the transport category, which includes different subcategories such as railway infrastructure, highways, bridges and airports.

This recognized ENR ranking highlights that among the 250 largest companies in the world, international contracting grew by 7.7% in 2022, to 428,500 million dollars.
